M anagement of the transition period in Egypt hypothesizes a parallel consideration to strategies. Strategies are of core value and are central for deeply-rooted development and accelerated reform. We realize that the strategic management of the aspects of developmental reform requires an integrated perspective of macro-micro arrangements and relationships. Government and business players are the potential key holders of such integration, in addition to interactive networking and societal involvement. Our conference perceives an enlarged concept that entails partnerships and alliances. Thinking of Egypt challenging transition from a multi-visionary diversified perspective is our contribution to the concurrent movement of socio-economic-politico deliberate shifts.

M ain aim is to bring together leading academic scientists, researchers, and scholars, to exchange and share their experiences and research results about all aspects and strategies that boost the transition in Egypt; also to provide the premier interdisciplinary forum for practitioners and educators to present and discuss the most recent innovations; trends and concerns; practical challenges encountered, and the solutions adopted in the field of strategic development.

A ll honorable authors are kindly encouraged to contribute to, and help shape the conference, through submissions of their studies' papers. Also, high quality research contributions describing original and unpublished results of conceptual; constructive; empirical; experimental; or theoretical work in all areas of "developmental reform" are cordially invited for presentation at the conference. We solicit contributions of papers that address themes and topics of the conference, including figures, tables and references of novel research material.
